

Northfield College of Health Sciences

2500 University Avenue SE, Minneapolis, MN 55414
Department of Nursing | (612) 555-0200 | northfieldhealthsci.edu

NURS 412: Medical-Surgical Nursing II

Fall Semester 2026 | 4 Credits | Senior Cohort, Section 02

Course Faculty

Lead Instructor	Maria Chen, RN, MSN
Office	Health Sciences Building, Room 314
Office Hours	Mondays 1:00 to 3:00 PM, or by appointment
Clinical Site	Lakeview Regional Medical Center, St. Louis Park

Course Description

NURS 412 builds on Medical-Surgical Nursing I and prepares senior students to manage complex adult patients across acute and critical care settings. Emphasis is placed on cardiovascular, renal, hepatic, and neurologic disorders, multi-system failure, and the nursing process under time pressure. Clinical rotations run concurrently at Lakeview Regional Medical Center.

Clinical Rotation

Clinical days are Tuesday and Thursday, 7:00 AM to 7:00 PM, on the medical-surgical unit at Lakeview Regional Medical Center. Students report to the unit by 6:45 AM in full uniform with badge and stethoscope. Pre-clinical paperwork is due the evening before each shift through the course portal.

Grading

Component	Weight
Clinical performance and care plans	30%
Midterm examination	20%
Two unit quizzes	15%
Comprehensive final examination	25%
Professional conduct and participation	10%

Unit Schedule (October to December)

Week of	Topic	Assessment
Oct 6	Heart failure and cardiogenic shock	Care plan 3 due
Oct 13	Acute kidney injury and dialysis	Quiz 3
Oct 20	Hepatic failure and GI bleeding	Care plan 4 due
Oct 27	Midterm review week	Midterm Oct 30
Nov 3	Increased intracranial pressure	Care plan 5 due

Week of	Topic	Assessment
Nov 10	Sepsis and multi-organ dysfunction	Quiz 4
Nov 17	Burns and complex wound management	Case study
Dec 1	Critical care synthesis	Care plan 6 due
Dec 15	Final review	Final Dec 18, 2:00 PM

Course Policies

Attendance at every clinical day is mandatory. A missed clinical must be made up and requires faculty notification before 6:00 AM. Academic integrity follows the Northfield Nursing Honor Code. Patient information leaves the unit only in de-identified form for approved coursework.