

Caseload Summary

247 Euclid Avenue, Apt 2, Syracuse, NY 13210 | (315) 555-0166 | grace.hatfield@greenridertech.co

This summary outlines the active caseload at Keystone Legal Aid. The work centers on housing, public benefits, rural healthcare access, and environmental justice, the everyday legal needs of low income clients across a wide rural region. Grace carries eight active matters, one of which is a major class action.

Practice

Attorney	Grace Hatfield, staff attorney
Firm	Keystone Legal Aid
Active cases	Eight
Focus	Housing, public benefits, rural healthcare, environmental justice

Selected Matters

Matter	Type	Status
Franklin County housing action	Class action, 2,400 tenants	Active, federal
Water rights dispute	Civil	In discovery
Religious freedom case	Civil rights	Briefing
Two individual rights cases	Civil rights	Active

Lead Case

The Franklin County housing action is the defining matter on the docket. It challenges discriminatory eviction practices affecting roughly twenty four hundred low income tenants and is a complex federal case still years from resolution. Client contact is coordinated through the county rural justice coalition, whose director expects detailed and regular updates.

The decision to pursue law at all traces back to watching her grandmother's neighbors lose farms to foreclosure and opaque paperwork. The housing case is the closest thing in the practice to that original reason, which is part of why Grace carries it so seriously.