Course description and learning objectives

This course reviews current evidence on sensory integration approaches in pediatric practice, with an emphasis on measurable functional outcomes and family centered goal setting. It is intended for occupational therapists working with children who show sensory processing differences.

On completion, the participant is able to

Summarize current evidence for sensory integration intervention in children ages 2 to 12.

Distinguish sensory based strategies from structured sensory integration therapy.

Write functional, measurable goals tied to daily participation.

Select outcome measures appropriate to a sensory processing caseload.

Explain the evidence to families in plain, supportive language.
