Your Wave Card and Fare Options

Rider Jennifer Williams. Wave card ending 6612. This guide accompanies your purchase receipt for the 31 Day Pass bought October 1, 2026, valid October 1 to October 31, 2026. It explains the fare options and how the card works.

Fare options

Fare	Price	Best for
Single local ride	$2.00	An occasional trip
Day pass	$6.00	A day of errands
31 Day Pass	$55.00	Daily commuting, your plan
Reduced fare	Varies	Eligible riders, with a card

Why the monthly pass

At daily commuting levels the 31 Day Pass costs less than paying per ride and is budgeted at $55 a month in the household plan. It covers unlimited local bus travel on all routes for the pass period.

Using and reloading

Tap the card on the farebox reader when you board. Auto reload is off on this card, so a new pass is purchased each month. You can reload at a sales outlet, online, or at a ticket machine.

Rider Policies and Card Care

Transfers and connections

With an active monthly pass, connecting buses are covered with a tap, so there is no separate transfer fare. Plan connections with the trip planner to keep waits short, especially on the routes through the East Side.

Lost or damaged cards

Register the card so a lost card can be replaced with the remaining balance transferred. Bring the card number, the one ending 6612, to any sales outlet. A small fee may apply for a replacement card.
