Approved project budget	$320,000.00
Targeted completion	October 2026

This agreement sets out the terms under which Spencer Interiors LLC, referred to as the designer, provides residential interior design services to Tom and Rebecca Hendricks, referred to as the clients, for their residence in Paradise Valley. It is written to be clear and practical, so that both sides know what to expect through design, procurement, and install.

1. Scope of Services

The designer will lead the full interior redesign of the home, with particular emphasis on the primary suite, the kitchen, and the main living spaces. Services include concept development, space planning, material and finish selection, furnishings specification, lighting direction, procurement through trade accounts, and install and styling. The work is delivered as a single coordinated program so the rooms read as one collected home rather than a set of separate projects.

The aesthetic direction is mid century modern warmed for real living, with clean lines softened by natural materials such as walnut, leather, wool, and stone. The designer brings the studio sample library and trade relationships to the project, and the clients retain final approval on selections.

2. Design Phases

Discovery and concept. Site review, intake questionnaire, mood direction, and a preliminary budget aligned to the approved figure above.

Design development. Space planning, material and finish selection, furnishings layouts, and a presentation of the proposed direction room by room.

Sourcing and procurement. Trade orders placed against the budget, lead time tracking, and delivery coordination with the receiving warehouse and the site.

Install and styling. Receiving, placement, styling, and a final walkthrough with the clients to confirm the result before the home is considered complete.

3. Fees and Payments

Design services are billed against the approved budget, with furnishings provided at the studio trade pricing. A retainer applied at signing is credited toward the final invoice. Custom and made to order items require a 50 percent deposit before they are placed into production, with the balance due on delivery. Any single commitment at or above 500 is confirmed with the clients in writing before it is ordered, so there are no surprises on the budget.

Invoices are issued at agreed milestones and are due within fifteen days. The custom marble for the master bath is a long lead item and is tracked on a separate schedule so the rest of the install never waits on it.

4. Schedule

Work proceeds in phases through design, procurement, and install. Completion is targeted for October 2026, subject to vendor lead times and timely client approvals. The designer will provide a monthly written update on progress, spending against budget, and any decisions that need the clients eye.

5. Client Responsibilities

The clients agree to provide timely access to the home for measurements, site visits, and install, to review presentations and selections within a reasonable window, and to make approval decisions so the schedule holds. Where the clients elect to source an item outside this agreement, the designer is not responsible for its quality, fit, or delivery.

6. Procurement and Trade Accounts

Furnishings, lighting, stone, textiles, and accessories are procured through the designer trade accounts and the local artisan network. Title to goods passes to the clients on final payment. Staging or loaned pieces, if any, remain the property of the designer unless purchased.

7. Changes and Change Orders

Either side may propose a change to scope, selections, or budget. Changes that affect cost or schedule are documented in a short written change order and confirmed before the work proceeds. This keeps the approved budget of 320,000 meaningful through the life of the project.

8. Photography and Portfolio

On completion, the designer may photograph the finished interiors for the studio portfolio and marketing, without disclosing the client names or the street address. The clients may request that any particular space be excluded from publication.

9. Confidentiality

The designer treats the clients personal information, the contents of the home, and the project budget as confidential, and shares them only with the team and vendors who need them to do the work.

10. Termination

Either side may end this agreement with written notice. On termination, the clients pay for services performed and goods ordered to that point, and the designer delivers the work product completed to date.

11. General Terms

This agreement is governed by the laws of the State of Arizona. It represents the full understanding between the parties and may be amended only in writing signed by both. If any provision is found unenforceable, the remainder stays in effect.
