What to expect at your visit

Your routine cleaning and exam

A routine visit usually runs about 45 to 60 minutes. A hygienist starts with a cleaning to remove plaque and surface stain, then polishes and checks your gums. Dr. Moss follows with an exam of your teeth and soft tissue and reviews anything worth watching.

We take a small set of images about once a year to check the areas a visual exam cannot reach. If nothing has changed since your last set, we will simply note it and move on.

Before you come in

- Arrive a few minutes early so we can update your contact details.
- Bring a current list of any medications or supplements you take.
- Tell us about any sensitivity, jaw tension, or grinding you have noticed.
- If you wear contacts to the visit, that is fine, no special prep is needed.

Caring for your teeth between visits

Simple habits that hold up

Most of the work happens at home in small daily steps. Brushing twice a day for two minutes and flossing once a day does the heavy lifting. A soft brush and a gentle touch protect both enamel and gums.

A note for coffee drinkers

If you drink coffee or tea through the day, you may notice surface staining over time. Rinsing with water between cups helps, and so does waiting a little while before brushing, since enamel is softer right after something acidic. None of this is cause for worry, it is just easy upkeep between cleanings.

- Brush twice daily with a soft brush and fluoride toothpaste.
- Floss once a day, gently, along the gum line.
- Drink water through the day to keep your mouth comfortable.
- Book your next cleaning before you leave so it does not slip.

Office policies and contact

Scheduling and changes

We ask for 48 hours notice on any change. Late notice leaves a gap we often cannot fill, and a held time is a time another patient could have used. If you are running late on the day, call ahead and we will do our best to keep your slot.

Records and payment

We provide an itemized receipt for every visit. Many self employed patients keep these with their yearly records, since dental costs can matter at tax time. Ask the front desk if you would like a copy sent through the portal.
