Annual eye exam recall and vision information

Hi Jessica,

Our records show your last comprehensive exam was in March 2025. It is time to schedule your next one. A current prescription keeps both your glasses and your contacts up to date, and an exam checks the health of your eyes beyond the prescription itself.

Patient	Jessica Taylor

Why an annual exam matters

More than a new prescription

An annual exam does two jobs. First, it confirms your prescription, since vision can shift a little year to year. Second, it lets us look at the health of your eyes, which is something you cannot judge from how clearly you see.

What the exam includes

- A visual acuity check at distance and near.
- A refraction to fine tune your current prescription.
- A look at the front and back of the eye for early changes.
- A short talk about how your eyes feel day to day.

With a steady prescription at -3.25 in both eyes, your visits are usually quick and routine. We will tell you if anything is worth a closer look.

Working comfortably at a screen

Long days at a monitor

If you spend most of your day at a screen, your eyes do a lot of close, steady focusing. That can leave them tired and dry by evening, even with a correct prescription. A few small changes make a real difference.

- Follow the 20 20 20 habit. Every 20 minutes, look about 20 feet away for 20 seconds.
- Keep the screen a little below eye level and about an arm length away.
- Blink often and keep the room light soft, not harsh.
- Ask about a screen focused lens option if close work tires your eyes.

Contacts can feel drier during long screen days. Switching to glasses for studio afternoons is an easy fix, and it gives your eyes a break.

Glasses, contacts, and booking

Two pairs, two jobs

Your glasses carry the daily load, and your contacts are handy for events or anything active. Keeping both current means you are never stuck with an old prescription when you need the other option.

Booking your visit

Book online or call the front desk. Bring your current glasses, and your contact details if you wear them, so we can check the fit and the prescription together.
