Clinical Summary

Reason for visit: right wrist pain and swelling after a fall at a work site earlier in the day. The patient is a healthy adult who works in carpentry and reported landing on an outstretched hand.

Examination: tenderness over the right wrist with mild swelling and full but uncomfortable range of motion. No deformity. Neurovascular status intact. X-ray of the wrist, two views, was negative for fracture.

Assessment: sprain of the right wrist. Treatment: a wrist immobilizer was applied. Advised rest, ice, elevation, and over the counter anti inflammatory as needed. Follow up if not improved within ten days, and return sooner for numbness, increasing pain, or loss of motion.

Provider: J. Okafor, PA-C. Visit closed same day.
