

Garage Workshop - Tool Inventory

The Bench

The heart of the shop is the workbench his father built in 1968. Hand tools hang on the pegboard above it, arranged so the most-used planes and chisels are within arm's reach.

Power Tools

Table saw, band saw, and router table anchor the shop floor. Each is checked for blade sharpness and fence square before a project begins.

Hand Tools

Bench planes, a router plane, a set of bevel-edge chisels, marking gauges, and Japanese pull saws. Sharpening stones live in a drawer by the bench.

Finishing Supplies

Tung oil, paste wax, shellac, and an assortment of brushes. Rags are stored in a sealed metal can to prevent any chance of spontaneous combustion.

Heirloom Shelf

His father's hard hat sits on a shelf above the bench, alongside the radio tuned low. The shop is restored most by a Saturday morning with the radio on.
