Customer Referral Letter, Brewerytown Homeowner

To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to recommend Porter & Koval Plumbing LLC for any homeowner in the Brewerytown or Fishtown area who is looking for a residential plumbing partner. I called the shop in late summer with a kitchen drain problem that two other shops had given me very different stories about, and the team came out the next morning, looked at the actual plumbing, and gave me a straight answer that turned out to be right.

The work itself was clean. The crew laid down floor protection, cleaned up at the end of the day, and walked me through what they did before they left. The invoice matched the estimate to the dollar and the warranty card showed up in my mailbox a few days later. None of that sounds dramatic but anyone who has tried to get an honest residential plumbing job done in this city knows that all of it is unusual.

I would call Porter & Koval again without hesitation for any future work on this house. I have already passed the shop number to two neighbors on my block and to a friend who owns a small bakery in Brewerytown.

If anyone reading this letter has questions about the experience, I am happy to answer. Contact information is below.

Sincerely,
Jameson Alvarez

Optional Background Notes

Mr Alvarez has owned his Brewerytown rowhouse since 2014. The kitchen drain issue that triggered the original service call had been intermittent for several months before he made the call to Porter & Koval. The job was completed in a single visit and there has been no recurrence in the months since.

Porter & Koval routinely asks satisfied residential customers whether they are willing to share a short referral letter. Letters are kept on file at the shop and are used in bid packages and in marketing materials with the writer permission.
