

Etsy Review Screenshot

Screenshot capture of a recent five star review. Reference noise, not load bearing.

PorterClayWorks - Etsy shop review

Reviewer: Verified buyer (name withheld in export)

Date: August 2026

Item: Coil-built stoneware mug, speckled cream

Rating: 5 out of 5 stars

Review text:

"This mug is the real thing. You can see every coil ring on the outside and the handle sits perfectly in my hand. The glaze is a warm cream that catches light differently at every angle. Arrived carefully packed in kraft paper and shredded stuffing, no damage. The maker included a hand written note about the ash glaze process on the rim. I have already ordered a second one as a gift. This is the kind of pottery you use every morning and think about for years. Highly recommend PorterClayWorks."

Response drafted (not sent, still in the draft folder):

"Thank you for the kind words. The coil rings are my grandmother's technique, seventy years in the family. The ash glaze is from oak ashes at her place in eastern Oklahoma. Every mug is a little different. Enjoy the morning coffee."

Reference only. Not needed for the Q3 reconciliation. Not a task for the sweep this morning.