

Architecture Happy Hour

A small gathering of people who argue about systems for fun

Friday, October 9, 2026

6:30 PM until the Woodford runs low

The Watson backyard deck

7012 Escarpment Oaks Drive, Austin

Bring one architecture decision you regret and one you would defend to the death. Grill is on. Vinyl is queued. Server rack tours available for the curious.

RSVP to Jennifer - jennifer.watson@Greenridertech.in

How the Evening Runs

No slides, no agenda deck, no talking at people. The grill is the only required technology. We go around once so everyone names their regret and their hill to die on, then the conversation takes over from there.

Time	What happens
6:30 PM	Arrivals, drinks, and the grill gets going
7:00 PM	One lap around the deck, regrets and defenses
7:45 PM	Open debate, food comes off the grill
9:00 PM	The chess postmortem that always happens
Late	Vinyl, one last pour, and the walk to the cars

Food and Drink

Dry-rubbed ribs and a veggie skewer platter so nobody is stuck eating sides. A few Hill Country IPAs and a Pinewood stout, plus one bottle of Woodford for the chess postmortem. Coffee for anyone driving.

Getting Here

Street parking is easy on the block. Rides can drop at the front walk. Come through the side gate to the deck rather than the house. The dog is friendly and will supervise the grill.

Past Sessions

Date	The debate that stuck
2025-10-31	Whether a shared database is ever the right call
2025-11-28	Event sourcing versus plain event-driven design
2026-01-30	When a monolith is genuinely the better architecture

House Rules

- Strong opinions, loosely held.
- Charm over cruelty. No talking past someone's point.
- What is said on the deck stays on the deck.
- The server rack tour is optional but encouraged.

Hosted at the Watson home, Circle C Ranch. RSVP to Jennifer.
