

Point Mallard Outing, Plan

A day at the water park with Kyle and friends. Just for fun, nothing to overthink.

THE DETAILS

Date	June 26, 2027
Where	Point Mallard Park, 1800 Point Mallard Drive SE, Decatur, AL 35601
Who	Me, Kyle, probably Travis and a couple others. Open invite.
The plan	Wave pool and the lazy river, that is the whole day.

This is a loose summer day. Get there when the gates open to beat the heat and the crowd, grab shade near the lazy river, and let the afternoon go slow. Everybody is flexible, so no one has to commit until the week of.

TO DO

- Check the park hours and day pass price closer to the date. Day passes, no need to book ahead.
- Sort the ride situation, probably take the Colorado, room for the cooler in the bed.
- Text the group the week before to lock who is actually coming.
- Buy the sunscreen the night before so I am not paying the gate price.

PACKING LIST

Item	Who brings it
Sunscreen	me, the night before
Towels	me and Kyle
Cooler with drinks	Kyle, if allowed
Cash for the snack stand	everyone
Dry clothes and a trash bag	me

BUDGET

Day passes run small, plus snacks and a cooler. Under 40 dollars for the two of us. This comes out of the dining and fun money, not something I need to clear ahead. Bringing our own drinks and a snack keeps the gate spending down.

BACKUP PLAN

If the forecast turns, push it a week. It is a loose plan and everybody is flexible. Kyle is in either way, the rest is open. A rain day just slides to the next open Saturday, no big deal.

NOTES

Easy day, no schedule to keep. If Travis and the others come, more the better, but it works fine as just Kyle and me. The point is a slow afternoon in the water, not a production. Sunscreen on early, reapply after the wave pool.