Why Jesse joined

Jesse joined the Brooklyn Chamber in spring 2025 after a Maker Quincy referral from Mateo. The studio had been operating out of Williamsburg without any local-business-network footprint, and the Chamber membership unlocks a small set of practical wins: discounted commercial insurance through a Chamber partner (passed; TCP camera rider already in place), introductions through quarterly networking, and visibility on the Chamber's monthly Brooklyn-business newsletter (Jesse Page Studio featured September 2025 as part of a "Creative Sole Props in Williamsburg" roundup).

Benefits Jesse uses

Quarterly mixer (Brooklyn Navy Yard). Jesse attended Q1, Q3 2025 and Q1 2026. Useful for meeting hospitality and CPG founders who occasionally need food photography; she met the Brooklyn Grange programming lead at the Q3 2025 mixer. Skip the Q2 mixer in 2026 — date conflicts with Tangerine fall feature prep.

Member directory listing. Inbound site form for "Brooklyn food photographer" has produced 3 inquiries from 2025 directory traffic; 1 converted (a small bakery owner, single shoot day Q4 2025).

Co-op savings (B&H Pro discount partnership). Modest; Jesse already has B&H Pro account separately.

Benefits Jesse skips

Chamber-branded credit card (Citi). Skipped; Jesse uses Chase business + personal stack already.

Chamber legal aid hotline. Skipped; Freelancers Union legal hotline already covered as part of the FU membership.

Chamber-organized trade missions. Skipped; not relevant to a sole-prop food photographer.

Renewal cost

$295 annual for sole-prop tier (paid Jan 2026 via Chase business card). Modest enough that the 1 directory-traffic conversion in 2025 already covered the year's membership cost.
