

Dropbox — 2025 Terms of Service Update Notice (Business Plus Plan)

Status: ARCHIVE. Notice received and accepted. Filed for reference.

Account: Jesse Page Studio (jesse.page@Finthesiss.ai)

Plan: Dropbox Business Plus, 5TB pooled storage

Notice received: September 18, 2025

Effective: October 15, 2025

Accepted: September 19, 2025 (clicked-through on web UI)

Summary of changes

Section 4.2 (data retention). Updated retention policy on deleted files: 180 days for paid plans (was 120 days). Beneficial for Jesse; gives a wider window to recover accidentally deleted shoot folders.

Section 6.1 (third-party integrations). Updated to require explicit OAuth consent re-prompt every 90 days for app integrations. Affects Jesse's Lightroom Cloud and Capture One Dropbox integrations. Re-consented on Oct 16 2025; both integrations continue working.

Section 9.4 (sharing links). Updated default expiry on shared links: now defaults to 30 days unless explicitly set to "no expiry". Affects how Jesse shares client deliverables; Jesse now explicitly sets shared client folder links to 90-day expiry to match contract clauses.

Section 12.1 (AI feature opt-in). New Dropbox Dash AI feature requires explicit opt-in. Jesse OPTED OUT for the business workspace; no client material trains any AI features. Client contracts (Salt + Press cookbook in particular) prohibit this.

Section 14.2 (price). No price change in this update. Business Plus remains $24/user/month.

Jesse's response to the update

Opted out of Dropbox Dash AI feature. Confirmed all client-folder share links manually set to 90-day expiry.

Re-consented to Lightroom + Capture One OAuth. Noted the wider 180-day deleted-file recovery window as a minor positive change.

Followup

Sept 19 2025: clicked-through the in-app acceptance. Oct 16 2025: re-consented to integrations. No further action required until next ToS update.

END OF NOTICE.
