Dear Dr. Roman,

On behalf of the Chesapeake Institute of Public Health, I am pleased to offer you the position of Research Scientist in the Division of Infectious Disease Epidemiology and Surveillance, effective June 6, 2022. This offer is extended following the conclusion of our national search and reflects our conviction that your expertise, scholarly record, and commitment to community-centered public health make you an exceptional fit for this role and for the Institute.

Terms of Employment

Position:	Research Scientist, Division of Infectious Disease Epidemiology and Surveillance
Department:	Epidemiology and Surveillance Research
Reports to:	Dr. Eleanor L. Voss, Senior Research Director
Start Date:	June 6, 2022
Employment Type:	Full-time, exempt, at-will
Employee ID:	EMP-2022-0441
Annual Salary:	$88,000 (paid biweekly; subject to standard withholding)

Benefits

You will be eligible to participate in the following CIPH benefits, subject to plan terms and applicable waiting periods:

Medical and dental insurance through CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield, with CIPH contributing 80 percent of the employee premium. Vision coverage through EyeMed. A 403(b) retirement plan administered by Silveroak Financial, with employee contributions up to the IRS annual limit. No employer match applies in the first year; a match of up to 3 percent of salary applies beginning in year two. Twelve days of annual leave, ten days of sick leave, and twelve paid holidays per calendar year. Professional development funds of $2,000 per year for conference registration, travel, and training.

Research Responsibilities

Your primary responsibilities will include designing, conducting, and disseminating original epidemiological research on infectious disease patterns in urban populations; contributing to grant development and management; and mentoring junior research staff. You are expected to maintain an active publication record and to represent the Institute at professional conferences and in community partnerships. Specific research priorities will be developed in consultation with Dr. Voss.

Conditions of Employment

This offer is contingent upon verification of your doctoral degree, receipt of two professional references, and successful completion of a background check consistent with CIPH employment policy. This letter does not constitute a contract of employment for any specific term. Employment at CIPH is at-will and may be terminated by either party at any time.

To accept this offer, please sign and return a copy of this letter by April 28, 2022. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me directly.

We look forward to welcoming you to the Institute.

Sincerely,

Eleanor L. Voss, ScD
