

Cedarbrook University

Pre-Nursing Advising, Meeting Summary

Advisor: Tanya Williams

Student: Hassan Jerome Blanchard (ID 100482237)

Meeting Date: February 6, 2026

Next Meeting: October 9, 2026

Where Things Stand

Hassan finished his first year with a 2.8 cumulative average and is working to reach the 3.0 needed for the clinical phase while protecting the 2.5 minimum tied to his aid. Fall grades held steady, with the strongest work in dosage calculation and the most ground to make up in the cardiovascular material from Pharmacology.

Plan We Agreed On

1. Keep Professor Okafor office hours on Tuesday as a standing block, even in weeks that feel manageable.
2. Cap dining hall hours near 14 per week during exam stretches so study time does not get squeezed out.
3. Finish the remaining 28 community service hours by attending the monthly neighborhood screening clinics, which also fit the nursing track.
4. Build a simple weekly study log to catch slipping subjects early instead of at the midterm.

Notes

Hassan raised an honest question about whether nursing is fully his choice. We agreed that is worth sitting with, not rushing, and that staying on the track for now keeps every door open. Campus counseling is free and available if he ever wants a neutral place to think it through.