College readiness

Your son has expressed interest in selective colleges. The counseling office encourages early preparation for the SAT and ongoing engagement with debate and service activities. We note that the family is already working through Khan Academy practice on weekends, which is excellent. Scholarship planning is tracked at home in the workbook coded X07.

Recommended next steps

- Register for the spring PSAT review sessions offered after school.
- Maintain the current course rigor into junior year with at least two more AP courses.
- Keep a record of debate placements and service hours for applications.
- Schedule a junior-year counselor meeting in the fall of 2027.

Attendance and conduct

Measure	Value	Status
Days present	41 of 41	Perfect to date
Tardies	0	Excellent
Conduct notes	None	Positive standing

Activities

The debate team competes regionally through the fall and winter. Parent volunteers help with weekend tournament logistics; details circulate through the team channel. Your son also volunteers at the parish food pantry on the first and third Saturdays, which the school recognizes as community service.

Sincerely, Counseling Office, Montgomery Blair High School.

This notice is informational. For official transcripts contact the registrar.

Parent resources

The counseling office offers several resources to support families through the high school years. The items below are open to all families and are especially useful as students begin to plan for college.

- Evening information sessions on course selection and testing.
- A scholarship bulletin updated through the school year.
- Drop-in counselor hours by appointment.
- Fee waivers for testing where families qualify.
