NUTRITION CONSULTATION VISIT SUMMARY

Visit Date: January 25, 2026 | Visit No.: 14 | Visit Type: Follow-Up - Weight Management and Diabetes

Patient Name:	Rebecca Anne Price
Date of Birth:	January 14, 1976
Referring Provider:	Dr. Stephanie Wright, MD
Primary Diagnosis:	Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus
Secondary Goal:	Weight reduction, 30 lbs from January 2025 baseline of 187.4 lbs
Current Weight:	173.9 lbs (as of January 19, 2026)
Total Loss to Date:	13.5 lbs
Target Weight:	157.4 lbs
Remaining to Goal:	16.5 lbs

PROGRESS NOTES

Rebecca has lost 13.5 pounds over the past year, which represents consistent and sustainable progress. Her glycemic data from the Dexcom G7 shows excellent time-in-range performance with an estimated A1C equivalent of 6.0 to 6.1% in January 2026, down from 6.4% at year-end 2025. The December holiday season showed a modest 0.6-pound gain, which was resolved in January. This is a normal and manageable pattern.

Rebecca has maintained her Monday and Wednesday evening meal prep routine consistently. Her Greenline walks average 2.3 to 3.0 miles three to four times per week. She is not meeting the 10,000 steps per day target on hospital shift days, which is understandable given the physical and emotional demands of those days.

UPDATED MEAL PLAN - FEBRUARY 2026

Meal	Target Calories	Focus	Notes
Breakfast (4:45 AM)	300 to 350	Protein and complex carbs	Oatmeal with berries OR eggs and whole grain toast. One cup coffee.
Morning Snack (if needed)	100 to 150	Stable blood sugar	Greek yogurt or a small apple with almond butter. Only if Dexcom shows low.
Lunch (during shift)	400 to 450	Low-glycemic, no spike	Prepped greens with salmon or chicken. Avoid cafeteria sandwich.
Afternoon Snack (2:30 PM)	100 to 150	Energy before commute	Handful of almonds, a pear, or herbal tea if not hungry.
Dinner	500 to 550	Balanced, satisfying	Protein, vegetable, and grain from Sunday or Monday prep. No sweets.

Total Daily Target	1,700 to 1,750
--------------------	----------------	--	--

Sunday dinner: Keep Sunday comfort dinners. Recommended portion adjustment: use the 9-inch plate instead of the 12-inch plate. You do not need to stop cooking pot roast. You need to start using a smaller plate.

NEXT APPOINTMENT

Scheduled: October 2026. Rebecca may call to reschedule sooner if she wants more frequent check-ins.
