

Prospect Intake — Results Summary

Responses collected via the practice intake form. 9 submissions between November 15 and December 1, 2026.

Important: these are first-touch, self-reported numbers. Several prospects have since revised what they want in follow-up calls or email, so treat these as a starting point, not the final scope.

All responses

Timestamp	Company	Contact	Stated need	Stated budget	Timeline
2026-11-15 09:12	Grove & Gable	Renata Vance	one-off analytics audit	$3,000-4,000	within Q1 2027
2026-11-16 14:03	Harvest Table Catering	Mark Feld	seasonal campaign tracking	$1,500-2,500	Q1 2027
2026-11-18 08:40	Dublin Dental Partners	Amy Sohn	patient acquisition dashboard	$4,000-5,000	Q2 2027
2026-11-20 17:22	Riverside Coworking	Cole Danner	occupancy and tour tracking	$2,000-3,000	Q1 2027
2026-11-22 11:05	Worthington Wellness Studio	Kara Vint	membership churn analysis	$1,800	Q2 2027
2026-11-25 13:47	Bexley Bikes Co	Dana Ruiz	GA4 setup and monthly readout	$1,200-1,800	Q1 2027
2026-11-27 12:33	Polaris Boutique Fitness	Mia Trent	ad spend ROI review	$2,500-3,500	Q1 2027
2026-11-29 16:08	Dublin Tech Collective	Owen Pratt	activation funnel analysis	$5,000-7,000	Q2 2027
2026-12-01 09:55	Gahanna Garden Center	Ed Pruitt	seasonal demand dashboard	$2,000	Q2 2027

Selected detail

Grove & Gable — Renata Vance (renata@groveandgable.com).

Home-goods retailer, Worthington, ~14 staff. Runs Shopify plus Meta and Google ads. On the form she asked for a one-time audit at 3,000 to 4,000 dollars. Note: on a later call she reconsidered and moved toward a longer engagement, see the saved email thread for where she actually landed.

Dublin Tech Collective — Owen Pratt (owen@dublintech.co).

SaaS, Dublin, most analytically mature of the group, already on Mixpanel and GA4. Wants an activation-funnel analysis, budget 5,000 to 7,000, targeting Q2. Warm, engages with my posts.

Bexley Bikes Co — Dana Ruiz (dana@bexleybikes.com).

Cycling retailer, Bexley. Wants GA4 set up cleanly and a monthly readout, modest budget. Warm, came from the Columbus Marketing Meetup. Note the listing sites show a generic info address for this shop, the direct owner contact above is the right one.

Contact emails on file: renata@groveandgable.com, mark@harvesttablecatering.com, asohn@dublintentalpartners.com, cole@riversidecowork.com, kara@worthingtonwellness.com, dana@bexleybikes.com, mia@polarisfit.com, owen@dublintech.co, ed@gahannagarden.com.

Remaining respondents

Harvest Table Catering — Mark Feld (mark@harvesttablecatering.com).

Caterer, Westerville, ~11 staff. Runs on spreadsheets, no real web tracking. Wants seasonal campaign tracking so he can see which promotions actually fill the calendar. Budget 1,500 to 2,500, Q1. Warm, met him at a chamber mixer.

Riverside Coworking — Cole Danner (cole@riversidecowork.com).

Coworking space, Columbus, ~11 staff, already on HubSpot. Wants occupancy and tour-to-signup tracking. Budget 2,000 to 3,000, Q1. Growing fast, came through a network intro.

Worthington Wellness Studio — Kara Vint (kara@worthingtonwellness.com).

Wellness center, Worthington, on Mindbody. Wants a membership churn analysis. Fixed idea of 1,800, Q2. Warm, a former classmate.

Polaris Boutique Fitness — Mia Trent (mia@polarisfit.com).

Boutique fitness, Columbus, spends on paid social, on Meta Ads plus GA4. Wants an ad-spend ROI review. Budget 2,500 to 3,500, Q1. Warm, an event contact.

Gahanna Garden Center — Ed Pruitt (ed@gahannagarden.com).

Garden center, Gahanna, on GA4 basic. Wants a seasonal demand dashboard. Budget 2,000, Q2. Warm, an event contact.

How I am scoring these

- Fit, whether they have data worth reading and a decision the numbers can move.
- Budget realism, whether the stated number covers the work they actually described.
- Warmth, a warm referral or meetup contact converts far better than a cold form fill.
- Timing, Q1 starts get priority so the practice has revenue from the opening month.
- One caution, form budgets are first-touch and soft, several will move once we actually talk.

Next steps

- Cross-check every form figure against any later email or call before it drives a quote.
- Confirm the right contact for each, some list a generic address that is not the decision maker.
- Draft tiered outreach, warm Q1 prospects first, and hold all of it for my go before anything sends.