Brother Matt,

I know you will bring your best to the council on Tuesday and I do not want to add pressure to the load you are already carrying. But I would rather hear the honest picture from you at 7am on your porch than from Frank at the microphone during the meeting.

Frank is a good man and he loves this church. He has also spent the last three weeks giving me numbers that feel polished rather than reported. I do not need him to be right. I need to know before I open the meeting what we are actually walking into so I do not get surprised in front of the council.

Give me the raw picture on the money, the volunteers, the vendors, and the wellness booth. If the picture is short, tell me it is short. This community has walked through harder things than a budget gap and we can walk through this one honestly. What I cannot do is stand up Tuesday and defend a number I have not seen.

I have been praying for you. I know Arturo's chair still sits at your kitchen table on days like this. He would be proud of how you are carrying this.

Come by anytime before Tuesday. Coffee is on me.

Peace, Pastor David

Pastor David,

Thank you for the note. You will have the raw picture before you open Tuesday.

I am reconciling this week and I will bring the honest numbers on the money and the volunteers and the wellness. Where the evidence is thin I will say so plainly rather than fill in a guess. Where the committee has been counting on numbers that are not real I will name that too.

I will come by Monday morning after my walk. Coffee sounds good.

Matt

Follow-up: Pastor David confirmed Monday 7:30 AM at his kitchen table. Matt is finalizing the council report and reconciled budget draft for that meeting.
