

Northfield College of Health Sciences

Department of Nursing | Clinical Performance Evaluation

Medical-Surgical Clinical Evaluation, Mid-Rotation

Student	Brandon Wright
Student ID	NF2300447
Course	NURS 412 Medical-Surgical Nursing II
Clinical Site	Lakeview Regional Medical Center
Clinical Instructor	Maria Chen, RN, MSN
Evaluation Date	October 23, 2026
Rotation Hours Completed	108 of 180

Competency Ratings

Scale: S = Satisfactory, D = Developing as Expected, U = Unsatisfactory

Competency	Rating	Comment
Patient assessment and data collection	S	Thorough, organized head-to-toe assessments
Medication administration and safety	S	Strong five-rights discipline
Clinical reasoning and prioritization	S	Anticipates the next intervention well
Documentation accuracy	S	Charting is clean and timely
Therapeutic communication	D	Reserved; encourage more patient teaching aloud
Interprofessional collaboration	S	Reliable handoffs to the care team

Instructor Narrative

Brandon is one of the most prepared students on the unit. His assessments are methodical and his medication safety is excellent. He calculated a heparin drip rate correctly under pressure last week and caught a documentation error before it reached the chart. The growth area is voicing his reasoning to patients and families. He knows the teaching; he needs to say it out loud more often. On track to finish the rotation strong.

Instructor signature	Date
Maria Chen, RN, MSN	October 23, 2026
Student signature	Date
Brandon Wright	October 23, 2026