Providers

Provider	Role	Phone
Dr. James Callahan	Primary care, Parma	(440) 555-0296
Dr. Martin Wells	Neurology, memory	(440) 555-9201

Weekly support routine

Charles visits Sundays from nine in the morning to one in the afternoon. He brings the week of meals prepped, checks the house, sorts the mail, and sets out medications. Karen visits monthly from Cincinnati when she can and covers a weekend so Charles can step back.

Diet

Dorothy follows a low sodium diet by her doctor. Meals are prepped without added salt and seasoned with herbs, lemon, and pepper. The grocery list for her week is kept separately and checked against the low sodium plan.

Health notes

Dorothy is independent but slowing down, with increasing forgetfulness the family is watching closely. Her neurologist is following memory changes. Nothing here is shared outside the family and her providers. Any change in her day to day function gets noted and raised with Dr. Wells at the next visit.

Medications

Medications are set out weekly in a labeled organizer during the Sunday visit. The pharmacy list is kept with her records. Refills are tracked so nothing runs out over a weekend.

Home and safety

The house is paid off and Charles handles maintenance. Smoke and carbon monoxide alarms are checked on the Sunday visits. A ride is arranged for appointments when Charles cannot drive her himself, so she never misses a visit for lack of a ride.

If something changes

In any medical or safety emergency, Charles is the listed contact, with Karen as backup. Call Charles first. If he cannot be reached, call Karen. For a medical question that is not an emergency, the primary care office is the first call.
